BIO

Larry D. Thacker is an Appalachian author, folklore researcher, college-level educator, vampire, and television personality, with a particular focus on the mystical traditions, strange histories, and supernatural cultures of Appalachia. A seventh-generation native of the Cumberland Gap region, he combines historical research, lived experience, and regional storytelling to explore how folklore continues to shape identity, belief, and community.

As founder of the East Tennessee Vampire Association, Larry offers a firsthand perspective on contemporary vampire identity, culture, and community while examining its connections to historic legends, symbolism, and public misconceptions. His work bridges documented tradition with personal experience, allowing him to approach unusual beliefs and practices with cultural understanding, openness, and thoughtful curiosity. Larry became known to audiences as a regular cast member of Netflix's Swap Shop, where his knowledge of antiques, collectibles, oddities, and regional history made him a distinctive on-screen presence. He also deals in vintage oddities and maintains a dedicated dealer space inside an East Tennessee antique store. He now serves as a key cast member and field investigator on Conjuring Truth, a ScareNetworkTV Original Series, contributing Appalachian folklore, historical context, artifact knowledge, and vampire-community insight while participating directly in investigations and immersive experiences.

A widely published poet, fiction writer, and higher-education instructor, Larry's work has appeared in more than 200 publications. He is the author of Mountain Mysteries: The Mystic Traditions of Appalachia and numerous poetry and short-story collections. A United States Army veteran, he holds an MFA in poetry and fiction, along with M.Ed. and Ed.S. degrees. His writing, teaching, television work, and field research reflect a lifelong commitment to preserving the voices, mysteries, and darker traditions of Appalachia.

CURRENT PROJECT

Conjuring Truth follows a fearless team of occult practitioners, mediums, paranormal researchers, and academic experts as they investigate dark hauntings, supernatural claims, hidden histories, folklore, and ritual traditions. Traveling to locations steeped in legend and feared for generations, the team examines the beliefs, practices, and real experiences behind the stories—approaching the occult not as outsiders, but through lived experience, historical research, authentic practice, and disciplined paranormal investigation. Blending immersive rituals, expert insight, personal transformation, and evidence-driven fieldwork, the series challenges exaggerated, fear-based portrayals of the occult and supernatural. Conjuring Truth seeks the truth buried beneath myth, separating fact from fiction while taking audiences beyond conventional paranormal television and into the deeper human experiences of belief, fear, identity, spirit, and the unknown.
